

CAMBRIDGE MUSEUM OF TECHNOLOGY - Steve & Joanne Garner

Opening Times: It is reopening on May 22nd but visitors must book a time slot. Open from 10.30am to 4pm on Saturday and Sunday. Weekday opening will depend on staffing levels.

Admission: Adults - £5.00, Concessions - £4.00, Children aged 5 to 18 - £3.00, Children under 5 - free.

Website: <https://www.museumoftechnology.com> .

Travel Time: From Newmarket by car - approximately 25 minutes.

Parking: On Riverside - Pay and Display; free roadside in Cheddars Lane and Stanley Road; 3 hours free in Tesco car park, which is a short walk away; or use the Newmarket Road Park and Ride bus.

General Information: A Victorian Steam Pumping station which is now a museum. It is located on Riverside off Cheddars Lane and the Newmarket Road into Cambridge.

This is a museum about the Industrial Heritage of Cambridge. There are steam days and other events. On June 27th it will be holding a Classic and Vintage Motorcycles Day.

Photos: © Steve Garner